The battle is real, so is that victory. And when you going to through struggle, just fall on your knees. He never lost one, non-slip through his grip. And when your stripped away and have no place, call on him.

Chorus

I know it's going to be okay in the mist of my storm. I'm riding on the waves, in the grip of his grace. Keep your eyes off the trouble, it's trying to take you away. But I say, stay in the grip of his grace, stay, stay, stay, in the grip of his grace.

It's in the news every single day, all the rumors of war trying to make your fear. But I fear the Lord, too many people lost in their hustle and on, and on, it seems like it's never going to stop.

Chorus

I know it's going to be okay in the mist of my storm. I'm riding on the waves, in the grip of his grace. Keep your eyes off the trouble, it's trying to take you away. But I say, stay in the grip of his grace, stay, stay, stay, in the grip of his grace.

Now that I could worry less,
I take the time to breathe it in when you speak right to me. Everything is smooth as glass. Even though I get to see it, doesn't mean the wind blows my way.
Look around there's so much more than staring into a hurricane.
